INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFESTS

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, regardless of separate manifests previously prepared at the third class and the second class and the first class and the crew, and also regardless of separate manifests for the various classes of passengers. Each manifest should show the same number after each name in the same manner as the ship's crew list in the same class; and it should be prepared in duplicate on the special forms which may be obtained on application at the office of the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of departure.

(WHITE PAPER)

The people who enter the United States from Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, and the islands of the Pacific may be divided into two classes, namely, those who enter the United States for the purpose of residence, and those who enter the United States for the purpose of temporary visit. The former class is commonly known as immigrants, and the latter class as nonimmigrants. The Immigration Act of 1924 provides that the number of immigrants who may enter the United States from any country in any year shall be limited to a certain percentage of the number of persons of that nationality who were residents of the United States in 1890, as determined by the United States Census for that year. This percentage is known as the quota. The Immigration Act of 1924 also provides that certain persons, known as nonquota immigrants, may enter the United States without regard to the quota. Nonquota immigrants are admitted to the United States upon the presentation of passports and visas in the same manner as quota immigrants, but they are not charged against the quota. Nonquota immigrants are admitted to the United States only if they are found to be admissible under the immigration laws. Nonquota immigrants are admitted to the United States for permanent residence only if they are found to be admissible under the immigration laws and are in possession of unexpired immigration visas issued to them as nonquota immigrants by American consular officers abroad. Nonquota immigrants are admitted to the United States for temporary visit only if they are found to be admissible under the immigration laws and are in possession of passports and visas issued to them as nonimmigrants by American consular officers abroad.

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted via Detroit to any vessel until the master or other person in charge thereof has made oath before the collector of customs at the port of departure that the manifest of passengers required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and by section 28 of the Act of May 22, 1918, has been fully complied with, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief the information contained therein is true and complete in every particular. The oath required by this section may be administered by the collector of customs or any deputy collector of customs at the port of departure, or by any person authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to administer oaths for the purposes of the navigation laws, or by any consular officer of the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention, until the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States in the penal sum of $500 for each such alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and will pay the hospital expenses and maintenance of such alien seaman if he becomes a charge upon the United States within five years after the date of the bond. Such bond shall be in addition to the penalty prescribed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall not be required in any case in which the Secretary of Labor shall have waived the provisions of section 2 of said Act.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel that has immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of the passengers and crew of such vessel (whether such inspection is all at once or successively) or who delays the departure of such vessel for the purpose of such inspection or who refuses to permit such inspection shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port of arrival is located $1,000.18 for each alien on board such vessel, such inspection or the refusal to permit such inspection to be a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, or the payment of such amount to be a lien upon such vessel, which may be recovered by the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(b) From and after the expiration of sixty days after the passage of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, or agent, officer, or employee thereof, to bring into the United States from any foreign port or place any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if such passport or other travel document is required by the provisions of this Act or regulations made thereunder, or to bring into the United States any alien who is not provided with the documentary requirements for admission prescribed by this Act or regulations made thereunder.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any person has violated any of the provisions of this section, or any rule, regulation, or order made thereunder, he may, in addition to any other penalty provided by this Act, refuse to grant clearance papers to the vessel or vehicle on board or in which such person is about to depart or attempt to depart from the United States, and may cancel any clearance papers previously granted to such vessel or vehicle. Clearance papers may be granted to any such vessel or vehicle refused clearance papers under this section upon the payment or deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such person while detained and the cost of his passage to the port of destination, as determined by the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below would please be prepared on board the vessel by the Department and kept ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors, pursuant to the act of March 3, 1903, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. The list or manifest must contain as many names as there are persons in the vessel, including the master, and the number of persons (Form 528) shall not be inserted on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon the arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of the first arrival of the vessel in the United States a complete manifest containing the names and such other information concerning each person on board as is required by the immigration laws now in force or hereafter enacted, and such manifest shall be prepared in such form and contain such additional information relative to each person listed thereon as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe by general rules not inconsistent with the immigration laws now in force or hereafter enacted. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall also deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a separate list or manifest of all persons on board who are not included in the manifest or manifests mentioned above, which list or manifest shall contain such information concerning such persons as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists or manifests shall be produced before the said immigration officer, and the said master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall subscribe and verify the same by his oath administered by said immigration officer. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists or manifests, or who knowingly or willfully lands any alien not mentioned therein, or who willfully refuses to furnish information for such lists or manifests concerning any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such information is required and is not furnished, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to land any person entitled to land in the United States, except pursuant to a writ of habeas corpus issued by a court, judge, or commissioner of competent jurisdiction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the proper immigration officer at any port of arrival the proper lists or manifests required by section 36 hereof, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws or any rule or regulation issued thereunder with respect to the inspection, detention, and examination of aliens prior to the landing thereof, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien detained on board such vessel to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the passage money and expenses of any such detained alien, or who shall refuse or fail to report, detain, or deliver any such alien in accordance with the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability of the master to the payment of the sum or sums herein required to be paid, or while the question of remission or mitigation of such fine is being considered by the Secretary of Labor, or while any such sum remains unpaid, except such clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum with the collector of customs or pending appeal to the Secretary of Labor upon the giving of a bond to the United States with sufficient surety in such sum as the collector of customs or the Secretary of Labor may require conditioned for the payment of such sum as may be finally imposed. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate any fine, penalty, or forfeiture provided for by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and reasonable.

(b) From and after the passage of this Act no vessel having on board any alien who has been refused admission to the United States or who is destined to a port in the United States for the purpose of having the immigration officials there inspect such alien shall depart or attempt to depart from any port in a foreign contiguous country or adjacent island, except in the case of aliens who are in transit through the United States and who have been admitted to some other foreign country, without first delivering to the immigration officer at the port of departure a list containing the name of each such alien, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country in which he has a residence, and the port at which he intends to land in the United States. Before the departure of any such vessel the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of departure a certified copy of the list or lists of aliens required to be delivered by the United States consul at the port of departure. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master of any such vessel who refuses to permit any such alien to land in the United States, except pursuant to a writ of habeas corpus issued by a court, judge, or commissioner of competent jurisdiction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, shall have been delivered, and such clearance shall not be granted any vessel if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has been notified by the Secretary of Labor that he has refused to comply with any requirement of section 37 of said Act, or that any fine or penalty imposed thereby remains unpaid: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such questions upon the deposit of such sum as a bond sufficient to cover such fine, penalty, or forfeiture.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws now in force or hereafter enacted, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the sole purpose of joining his vessel or proceeding to another port to join his vessel in the United States or in foreign contiguous territory. Any alien seaman who lands in the United States under this subdivision (a) and who remains therein for a period in excess of the period for which he is granted permission to land, or who shall land at any place in the United States other than the port at which he is granted permission to land, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island from which he came to the United States, or if entered from overseas, to the country in which he obtained a visa for admission to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who is deported under the provisions of this subdivision (a) shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service for the fiscal year in which he is deported.

(b) Every alien seaman who is granted a temporary permit to land in the United States shall be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of entry a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to defray the expense of his deportation in case he shall become a public charge, and such sum shall be refunded to him when he is lawfully removed from the United States within the period for which he was admitted or when he departs therefrom, or when he is granted permission to remain permanently in the United States, or when he proves to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not become a public charge: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, require any alien seaman who is granted a temporary permit to land in the United States to furnish a bond with sufficient surety in such sum as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States within the period for which he was admitted or upon the payment by him of any charge for his maintenance or medical treatment while in the United States.

(c) If any alien seaman who is granted a temporary permit to land in the United States under the provisions of this section shall fail to depart from the United States within the period for which he was admitted or to comply with any of the conditions of his permit to land, or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that any such alien seaman was at the time of his entry not entitled to the permit to land granted him, he shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island from which he came to the United States, or if entered from overseas, to the country in which he obtained a visa for admission to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who is deported under the provisions of this subdivision (c) shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service for the fiscal year in which he is deported.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the deportation of any alien seaman on the ground that he was at the time of his entry not entitled to the permit to land granted him, or on the ground that he has failed to depart from the United States within the period for which he was admitted, or to comply with any of the conditions of his permit to land, would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States because of the unsettled condition of the country to which he would be deported, or because of the refusal of the government of such country to accept him, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported to any country which he may select that will accept him, at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service for the fiscal year in which the deportation is effected.

SEC. 21. The list or manifest shall be typewritten or printed legibly with pen and ink in the English language. Any abbreviations used must be understandable. Each person must be listed, and the numbering must start with "one" for each vessel. The list or manifest must show the full name of every alien on board, including children and members of the crew (not citizens of the United States), the port at which they have severally last landed, and the final destination of each so far as known. Each alien must be described as to age, sex, marital status, occupation, nationality, and last residence, and whether he has a relative or friend in the country whence he came and the name and address of such relative or friend. Each alien must be described as to whether he is in possession of $50 and if not the amount he has with him up to that sum, and whether he has been in the United States before and if so when and where. Each alien must be described as to whether he is going to join a relative or friend and if so the name and complete address of such relative or friend, and the country from which last came. Each alien must be described as to his ultimate destination. Each alien must be described as to whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity or is a polygamist or anarchist, or is afflicted with tuberculosis or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and if so what disease, and whether the alien has been deported before and if so when and why. SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or departing from any port of the United States, who knowingly (except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section) brings to, lands, or allows to land in the United States from any such vessel any alien not duly entered at a port of entry as required by this Act, or who knowingly (except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section) transports or conceals or harbors, or assists in concealing or harboring, any such alien who has entered the United States at any time within three years after the time of entry of such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall for each such offense be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, except that if such alien has entered the United States at a port not then open to immigration officers, or at a time not then fixed for the entry of aliens, the fine in each case shall not exceed $2,000 or the imprisonment one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) Every master, commanding officer, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa and who is not entitled under this Act to enter the United States, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa when such visa is required by this Act, shall detain such alien on board such vessel at such port of arrival until a determination is made by the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival with respect to the admissibility of such alien, unless such master, commanding officer, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee shall deposit with the Secretary of Labor such sum, not exceeding $300, as the Secretary of Labor may require, but not less than $20 per alien, to cover the cost of maintenance of such alien during the period he is detained on board or on land under the immediate supervision of the immigration officers, pending a determination of the question of the admissibility of such alien to enter the United States. Such sum shall be refunded if such alien is found admissible and is permitted to land in the United States, except that if such alien is permitted to land temporarily under bond, such sum may be applied to the payment of the bond. Such sum shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien is found inadmissible and deported unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such master, commanding officer, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee has complied with all the provisions of this Act applicable to him and to such alien, and that such alien was not afforded any opportunity to land in the United States.

(c) If any master, commanding officer, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or departing from any port of the United States, shall refuse or fail to comply with any requirement of the immigration officers or any person authorized to assist them in the performance of their duties with respect to the boarding or search of the vessel, or the arrest, detention, examination, or removal of aliens on board thereof, or the search for stowaways, or shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board when required so to do, or shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien who has been ordered to be taken before a board of special inquiry, or to be taken from the United States, or shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of maintenance of any such alien while detained on board or on land, or shall refuse or fail to pay any fine or penalty imposed upon him under the provisions of this Act, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, except that if such alien has entered the United States at a port not then open to immigration officers, or at a time not then fixed for the entry of aliens, the fine in each case shall not exceed $2,000 or the imprisonment one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, agent, master, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel and for the expenses incident to the removal of such alien seaman from the United States, unless such alien seaman is accepted by another vessel for employment on board thereof, or by another person who agrees to be responsible for such alien seaman, and is permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port to enter the United States notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, or unless such alien seaman is entitled to admission to the United States without regard to the provisions of this Act. Such owner, agent, master, consignee, or person in charge shall deposit with the collector of customs at the port of arrival a bond in the sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, conditioned upon the performance by such owner, agent, master, consignee, or person in charge of the duties imposed upon him by the provisions of this Act, or in lieu of such bond a deposit of money in the sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, which deposit shall be returned to the depositor upon the performance of such duties by such alien seaman, or upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon the acceptance of such alien seaman by another vessel for employment on board thereof, or by another person who agrees to be responsible for such alien seaman, and is permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port to enter the United States notwithstanding the provisions of this Act. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or the equivalent thereof by the collector of customs at the port from which such vessel is about to depart from the United States for any foreign port or place while any such alien seaman employed on board such vessel remains in the United States without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port, except that any such alien seaman may be left behind by reason of illness certified to by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure, or may be left behind if such alien seaman shall fail to join the vessel within twenty-four hours after the departure thereof, and reasonable efforts have been made by the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel to secure the presence of such alien seaman and to detain him on board, or if such alien seaman is under bail or held for trial or sentence under the laws of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or the District of Columbia, or has been convicted of any crime or misdemeanor other than a violation of this Act, and the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel has given notice in writing of the illness or absence of such alien seaman to the immigration officer in charge of the port at the time of the departure of the vessel from such port, and has furnished to such officer a description of such alien seaman, and such information in his possession as may be required by such officer for the purpose of securing the return of such alien seaman. Upon the refusal or failure of the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel to deposit the bond or money required by this section, or to detain any such alien seaman on board or secure his presence before the departure of the vessel from the port, or within twenty-four hours thereafter, such vessel shall be granted clearance papers or the equivalent thereof upon the deposit of the amount required to be deposited by this section. Any money deposited by the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel as herein provided, and not returned to him upon the performance of the duties imposed upon such alien seaman by this section, shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States and shall be available for the same purposes and be subject to the same laws and regulations as to the collection, disposition, and accounting thereof as are provided with respect to duties on imports.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below makes it necessary to have a blank form supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery at the immigration station before the vessel arrives. The law requires a separate list for each port of entry (fifth rule) that you are scheduled to touch at, and calls for all the information called for in the blank. Be careful to answer correctly the questions relating to the number of the different races or peoples carried, and the number of each class of aliens on board. Write plainly in ink, and do not fail to sign your name in the space provided.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every vessel from a foreign port or any port of the United States to any other port of the United States, and every vessel from a foreign port or any port of the United States to any port of the United States, shall, before a clearance is granted to such vessel, cause to be delivered to the proper officer of customs to each alien on board a true list, under oath or affirmation, to be taken by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, containing the name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage of such alien is paid for by himself or by any other person or corporation, or by what other means, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and where, whether he is in possession of money, and how much, whether he is coming under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, whether he has ever been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or is opposed to organized government, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, whether he is coming to perform labor if so, what kind of labor, whether he has a ticket through to the place of his final destination, whether he has been deported within one year or is coming in pursuance of the solicitation of any person, company, partnership, or corporation, and such other facts regarding such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, which list shall be signed and sworn to before the proper officer of customs by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, and the said master or commanding officer shall, at the time of subscribing said list, deliver to the said officer of customs a certificate, signed by him, stating that the list contains a full, correct, and true account of all aliens who have been taken on board his vessel at any foreign port or place, specifying the number of such aliens who have been so taken on board at each such port or place, and that he has caused the certificate to be posted in a conspicuous place on board his vessel where it may be seen by the aliens carried thereby. Such certificate shall be produced by the master or commanding officer of such vessel to the officer of customs before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers, and in default of the production of such certificate, duly signed and sworn to, such vessel shall be refused clearance papers. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver the list required, or who refuses to subscribe to the oath or affirmation required in connection therewith, or who refuses to deliver the certificate required, or who refuses to produce the certificate required before the granting of clearance papers, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Such list or manifest may be delivered to the boarding officer at any time before the vessel actually departs from the dock or pier, but not after the vessel has left the dock or pier. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, and any such alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, unless such seaman is a native of the United States, a native of the dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, the insular possessions of the United States, the Panama Canal Zone, or the Republic of Cuba, or unless such seaman has been lawfully admitted to the United States and has a certificate from the Secretary of Labor showing that he has been found duly qualified by an immigrant inspector for admission to the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(b) Every alien so arriving shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, unless such alien is destined to a port at which there is no such inspector, in which case the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel on which such alien arrives shall report the name of such alien to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before the vessel shall be admitted to entry or to the privilege of discharging any of her passengers, and such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall detain such alien on board the vessel at such port of arrival, or at such other place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge at such port, until a permit for the landing of such alien shall have been granted by such inspector, or by the Secretary of Labor, or by such person or persons as may be designated by him for that purpose, unless such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall have been notified by the immigrant inspector in charge at such port that a hearing in the case of such alien has been waived, or that a decision has been rendered by the Secretary of Labor to the effect that such alien is not entitled to land, in which case such alien shall be immediately delivered by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge to the custody of the immigrant inspector in charge at such port, and shall be kept in such custody at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws until a permit for the landing of such alien shall have been granted by such inspector, or by the Secretary of Labor, or by such person or persons as may be designated by him for that purpose, or until such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall cause such alien to be returned to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in the case of any alien detained for special inquiry before the vessel on board which such alien arrived shall have been granted entry to the United States, or shall have been ordered to be deported from the United States, such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such decision has been rendered, unless such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond or undertaking in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500 for each such alien, conditioned upon the return of such alien to a port in the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, if deported as provided by law, and upon the payment of the hospital expenses and burial charges of such alien, if he shall die before a decision is rendered in his case.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof who is afflicted with any contagious disease which would be likely to endanger the public health if he were permitted to land, shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the Secretary of Labor may direct until he is certified by the proper quarantine officer to be free from such disease, or in case he is found to be afflicted with such disease, until he is cured or the danger of contagion is past, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel on which such alien arrives shall elect to take back to the country from which he came any alien certified to be afflicted with such disease, and such election shall be at the option of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, and shall be exercised within such time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in the case of any alien detained for special inquiry before the vessel on board which such alien arrived shall have been granted entry to the United States, or shall have been ordered to be deported from the United States, such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such decision has been rendered, unless such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond or undertaking in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500 for each such alien, conditioned upon the return of such alien to a port in the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, if deported as provided by law, and upon the payment of the hospital expenses and burial charges of such alien, if he shall die before a decision is rendered in his case.

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving in the United States from the foreign contiguous territory of Mexico or Canada, either by water or by land, shall be duly inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of entry or other place designated by the Secretary of Labor, and for such purpose may be required to report at the office of the immigrant inspector at such port of entry or place designated by the Secretary of Labor, and may be detained for such reasonable time as may be necessary to determine whether he belongs to any of the classes excluded by this Act, and may be temporarily detained in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor at the port of entry or place designated by him for special inquiry under rules prescribed by the Secretary of Labor: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, to waive the application to any alien or class of aliens of any part or parts of the head tax and the contract labor provisions of this Act, and of the provisions of section 2 of the Act entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States," approved February 20, 1907, in the case of any country or dependency contiguous to the United States or island adjacent thereto when in his judgment (to be evidenced by certificate filed in each case between the Commissioner of Immigration and the Secretary of Labor) the enforcement of such provisions would result in unnecessary hardship or would be contrary to the interests of the United States, but no such waiver shall be made in favor of any alien who is excluded because he is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to any port of the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and has a lawful right to return thereto, and who is returning to the United States after a temporary absence), or bringing an alien who is an applicant for admission to the United States, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in transit through the United States of such alien, and for his departure therefrom, and for the payment of the head tax provided for in this Act, unless such alien is in possession of a sufficient amount of money to pay the same, or unless such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had no reasonable ground to believe that such alien was subject to the head tax, or that he had taken from such alien at the time of embarkation a sufficient amount of money or security therefor, or that such alien had been in the United States for a period of at least one year previous to the time of his departure therefrom.

(b) Every such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this Act, or to pay any head tax, fine, or penalty imposed by or pursuant to law, or who shall bring to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, or islands adjacent thereto when in the judgment of the Secretary of Labor such islands may be reached only by passing through a foreign port) any alien who has been refused admission and ordered deported upon the certificate of a special inquiry officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

(c) If any transportation company, or the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel, shall refuse to receive back on board thereof or on any vessel in which it has an interest, agency, or charter, any alien who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this Act, such transportation company, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

SEC. 38. (a) That any person, company, agency, corporation, or manager of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and has a lawful right to return thereto, and who is returning to the United States after a temporary absence), or bringing an alien who is an applicant for admission to the United States, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in transit through the United States of such alien, and for his departure therefrom, and for the payment of the head tax provided for in this Act, unless such alien is in possession of a sufficient amount of money to pay the same, or unless such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had no reasonable ground to believe that such alien was subject to the head tax, or that he had taken from such alien at the time of embarkation a sufficient amount of money or security therefor, or that such alien had been in the United States for a period of at least one year previous to the time of his departure therefrom.

(b) Every such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this Act, or to pay any head tax, fine, or penalty imposed by or pursuant to law, or who shall bring to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, or islands adjacent thereto when in the judgment of the Secretary of Labor such islands may be reached only by passing through a foreign port) any alien who has been refused admission and ordered deported upon the certificate of a special inquiry officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

(c) If any transportation company, or the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel, shall refuse to receive back on board thereof or on any vessel in which it has an interest, agency, or charter, any alien who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this Act, such transportation company, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, agent, master, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman who is employed on board such vessel and who intends to land temporarily in the United States shall deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a bond in the sum of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States within the period for which he is granted shore leave, and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to such alien seaman. Upon the deposit of such bond and the granting of shore leave to such alien seaman, the master of the vessel shall deliver to such alien seaman a certificate identifying him as the person to whom shore leave has been granted, stating the period for which shore leave has been granted, and containing such description of such alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such certificate shall be surrendered by such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the port at which he departs from the United States, or at the port at which he joins the vessel to depart from the United States, as the case may be. Upon the failure of such alien seaman to depart from the United States within the period for which he was granted shore leave, or to report on board the vessel at the time of departure, or upon the failure of the master of the vessel to deliver such certificate to such alien seaman, or upon the failure of such alien seaman to surrender such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure, the bond shall be forfeited to the United States. Any such forfeiture may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he may deem proper if it is shown to his satisfaction that there was no fault or negligence on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in connection with the violation of the conditions of the bond, and that the failure of such alien seaman to depart was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control. Any such bond may be sued for and recovered by any officer authorized to institute proceedings for the collection of fines and penalties. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue certificates in lieu of lost certificates, or to any alien seaman who has previously been granted shore leave, and may require any such alien seaman to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service before the granting of shore leave to him. Any such alien seaman who fails to obtain a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who fails to present his certificate to the master of the vessel at the time of departure, or who fails to report on board at the time of departure, shall be deemed to be a person who has remained in the United States in violation of law.

(b) Every alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who is employed on board any vessel at a port of the United States and who intends to depart from the United States in any such vessel, shall be examined by the immigration officer at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, before he is granted shore leave, and no such alien seaman shall be granted shore leave if he appears to the immigration officer to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be the basis for excluding aliens from admission into the United States under the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman who is found to be afflicted with any such disease or defect shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion, allows him to remain temporarily in the United States as a patient in a hospital, and no such alien seaman shall be granted shore leave while suffering from any such disease or defect which would be the basis for excluding aliens from admission into the United States under the immigration laws.

(c) Every alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who is employed on board any vessel at a port of the United States and who intends to depart from the United States in any such vessel, shall be registered by the immigration officer at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, before he is granted shore leave, and shall be fingerprinted if he is over the age of fourteen years. Such registry shall be made in the manner prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the form of the certificate to be issued to such alien seaman shall be approved by the Secretary of Labor. Such registry shall be made without any fee or charge to such alien seaman.

(d) Every alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who is employed on board any vessel at a port of the United States and who intends to depart from the United States in any such vessel, shall be required by the master of the vessel to sign on the ship's articles and to make a declaration before the immigration officer at the port of arrival or departure, as the case may be, stating the name, nationality, last residence, and such other particulars as may be required by the Secretary of Labor touching the right of such alien seaman to enter or depart from the United States, and the immigration officer shall certify the truth of the matters so stated by such alien seaman. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, it shall be unlawful for any person, group of persons, or corporation to bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, and any person, group of persons, or corporation bringing any alien into the United States in violation of this Act shall be severally liable to a penalty of not more than $200 for each alien so brought, and may also be imprisoned for not more than two years. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act, and shall have charge of all matters concerning the administration hereof, except as herein otherwise provided. He shall have power to enter into contracts with such State boards or commissions as may be established to care for feebleminded persons, for the support in suitable institutions of such aliens as become public charges within three years after their entry into the United States, when the cost of such support and care shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the boards or commissions having jurisdiction over such institutions, and shall make all needful rules and regulations necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act. He shall annually report to Congress the number, nationality, sex, occupation, literacy, and destination of immigrants admitted, the number excluded and deported, and the cost of such deportation, and shall make such suggestions as he may deem necessary with reference to the admission, exclusion, and deportation of immigrants and the best means of caring for those excluded and deported.

SEC. 38. (a) That any person, partnership, agent, company, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who does not appear to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to admission under this Act shall be detained on board or at the option of the master in such safe place as shall be designated by the immigrant inspector until a determination is reached in the case of each such alien by the Secretary of Labor, which determination shall be reached in each case within four days after the application for the detention of such alien shall be made by the master of the vessel, unless the Secretary of Labor shall certify that additional time is necessary for the purpose of obtaining information upon which to base his determination, in which case he may extend the time for such period as he may deem necessary for the purpose. The cost of such detention shall be paid to the United States by the master of the vessel. Any master who refuses to detain any alien as herein provided shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported in pursuance of any law, treaty, or convention regulating the immigration of aliens to the United States, and who may subsequently enter or attempt to enter the United States, may be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless prior to the issuance of such warrant such alien shall have been admitted to the United States by an immigrant inspector or unless such alien is clearly entitled to admission under some existing law or treaty, in which case he shall be admitted or else be granted a hearing before the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate, to determine whether such alien may be admitted to the United States or deported under the provisions of this Act. Pending such hearing and decision thereon, such alien shall be detained in such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or his authorized agent, and shall be furnished with such subsistence as may be necessary. The decision of the Secretary of Labor, or such person as he may designate, shall be final as to the facts of the case unless manifestly contrary to the evidence, but either the alien or any person in his behalf may within one year after the entry of such decision apply for a writ of habeas corpus to have the reasonableness of such decision inquired into and determined by the courts.

SEC. 39. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien employed on board any vessel departing from the United States, except pilots regularly employed in such capacity on vessels of the United States plying between ports thereof, shall be permitted to land temporarily from any such vessel unless upon the certificate of the boarding officer that such alien is not affected with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or conditions for which he might be excluded from admission to the United States under this Act, nor shall any such alien be permitted to land temporarily unless his name appears on the list required to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, nor unless such alien is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the United States at the port or place from which such alien sailed, if such passport is required by the rules made by the President, nor unless such alien is in all respects admissible under the provisions of this Act. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel violating any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $500 for each such violation.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING ALIEN MANIFESTS

Separate sheets should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark.

MASTER'S MANIFEST OF ALIENS DEPARTING FROM THE PORT OF SEATTLE, WASH.

(Section 8 (Head-tax alien), Immigration Act of 1924.)—Steamship lines should make entry on writing in this column. The steerage is for the use of Government officials only.

Column 1 (Age).—The years at last birthday should be expressed in words, the letter being omitted.

Column 2 (Sex).—The entry should be either M (male) or F (female).

Column 3 (Married or single).—The terms should be indicated by the letters S (single), M (married), W (widowed), or D (divorced).

Column 4 (Calling or occupation).—The entry should describe as accurately as possible the occupation, trade, or profession of each alien arriving, as, for example: Clerk, surgeon, saleswoman, lawyer, housewife, servant, motor engineer, minister, engineer, nurse, barber, hotel keeper, tailor, dressmaker, author, editor, laborer, mason, bricklayer, carpenter, plumber, farmer, or other indefinite designations.

A duplication should be made between several pages should the number of persons to appear on any one page exceed the number provided for.

A manifest is made out in quadruplicate, the original and duplicate to be delivered to the examining officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at the first port of call in the United States, the triplicate to be delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port where the first examination of aliens is to be made, and the quadruplicate to be retained by the master of the vessel for production, if necessary, in the event that any question should arise with regard to the manifest.

Separate manifests should be made for the steerage passengers and for the cabin passengers.

A line should be left between the last name on each page and the name of the first cabin passenger, if any, and between the last cabin passenger and the first steerage passenger, if any, in order that there may be no possibility of additional names being added to either manifest after the departure of the vessel from the last port.

Columns 5 (Nationality).—Under this column should be entered the nationality of the alien, as, for example: Irish, English, Scotch, Welsh, Canadian (other than French), French Canadian, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian (Latin), Italian (Sicilian), Italian (other than Latin or Sicilian), German, Austrian (German), Austrian (Hungarian), Austrian (Polish), Austrian (Czech), Austrian (Slovak), Austrian (Croatian), Austrian (Ruthenian), Austrian (Slovenian), Austrian (other than German, Hungarian, Polish, Czech, Slovak, Croatian, Ruthenian, or Slovenian), Hungarian (Magyar), Hungarian (Slovak), Hungarian (Croatian), Hungarian (Ruthenian), Hungarian (Slovenian), Hungarian (other than Magyar, Slovak, Croatian, Ruthenian, or Slovenian), Russian, Finnish, Bulgarian, Servian, Montenegrin, Roumanian, Greek, Syrian, Armenian, Palestinian, Arabian, Turkish, Egyptian, Persian, Afghan, Hindu, Siamese, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Filipino, Hawaiian, Indian (native), Mexican (native), Canadian (native), New Zealander, Australian, Negro, Other African Native, Other Black Race, Other Native Race, Other People, Stateless, or Nationality Undetermined.

Columns 6 to 11.—These columns are analogous to Italian consular practice and need no explanation.

Such manifest shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival and shall be open to his inspection and to the inspection of any person designated by him until the vessel shall have been cleared by the officers of the customs. Such manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the original shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival, the duplicate to the collector of customs at the port of first arrival, the triplicate to the Commissioner General of Immigration, and the quadruplicate retained on board the vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port at which the vessel shall next touch after completing the inspection of the vessel and before such vessel shall leave the port. Any master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest in the manner and at the time prescribed, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and completely to the best of his knowledge any question touching the matters required to be stated in such manifest, or who shall knowingly or willfully report, or make any false statement as to the right to enter the United States of any alien on board such vessel, or who shall refuse to allow any immigration officer to enter upon such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the persons on board thereof, or who shall refuse to detain such vessel for a sufficient length of time after her actual arrival at the dock to enable the immigration officers to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the persons on board thereof, or who shall refuse to carry back to the last port from which such vessel came any alien ordered by the Secretary of Labor to be so carried back, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs.

(a) The master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or agent of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge of any such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, from such vessel any alien brought to the United States by such vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry has been given due notice of the intended landing of such alien and has boarded such vessel and inspected such alien, or has given written permission to land such alien, which permission shall be delivered to the master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel, and shall be filed with the immigration officer at the port of entry. Any such master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who shall land or permit to be landed any alien brought to the United States by such vessel, except as provided in this section, before the inspection of such alien by the immigration officer at the port of entry or at such other place as may be designated by him, or before the delivery by him of the permit in writing to land such alien, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien in respect to whom such immigration officer shall have refused to grant such permit, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so landed or permitted to land.

(b) Every alien who shall not be duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of entry shall be deported as provided in this act to the country whence he came, or, if he shall so elect, to the country in which he shall have resided for one year immediately preceding his coming to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel on which he arrived, and such master, purser, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer shall be responsible for and pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws now in force or hereafter enacted, except temporarily for medical treatment, shall be permitted to land in the United States except for the purpose and to the extent authorized by the Secretary of Labor, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, pursuant to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, to insure that he will depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel; and any alien seaman who lands in the United States in violation of this section, or who fails to depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or some other vessel, unless prevented by sickness or injury, or who fails to report to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival within forty-eight hours after the departure of the vessel from which he was ordered removed, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall be granted a temporary permit to enter the United States solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, and who shall fail to depart from the United States when no longer necessary for such purpose, or within such period of time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived cannot be effected at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be required to remain in port longer than seven days after the vessel is ready to depart for the purpose of receiving such alien seaman, unless such alien seaman shall request in writing that he be detained on board for a longer period. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on board a vessel pursuant to this subdivision shall be reimbursed to the master by the Secretary of Labor.

Any alien seaman who shall be deported shall be deported only to the port at which he was admitted from, unless the cost of deportation to such port is unreasonably great or impracticable, or unless such port refuses to accept such alien seaman, in which case he may be deported to any port which is willing to accept him. SEC. 20. (a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and having on board any alien seaman who intends to land temporarily in the United States, shall, before such alien seaman is granted a permit to land, deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a bond in the sum of $500 for each such alien seaman, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman to the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel of the same ownership, or upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States within the period for which he is granted permission to land, and upon the payment of the hospital dues and the head tax if any, required by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and upon the payment of any expenses of maintenance and medical treatment which may be incurred in behalf of such alien seaman by the United States Government or by any State, municipality, or public spirited agency during the period he is granted permission to land, and upon the payment of any fine or penalty which may be imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at the United States from the foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be examined as to his admissibility to enter the United States at the port of entry or place designated for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor. Such aliens arriving at ports not designated by the Secretary of Labor for the examination of aliens shall be detained at such ports for a period not exceeding two days, unless sooner examined and permitted to enter, in the discretion of the immigrant inspector in charge at such port, or his assistants, to whom sufficient time and facilities for making such examination shall be given. Such aliens shall be subject to such physical and mental examination and such investigation of their admissibility into the United States as may be prescribed by rules made hereunder by the Secretary of Labor. Such rules shall provide for the certification or other identification of aliens who have been examined, and shall prescribe the form of and the data to be shown in the certificates issued to such aliens. Such rules shall provide for the forwarding to the Department of Labor at Washington of such certificates or lists thereof as may be necessary, and for the disposition of aliens who have been certified. Such rules shall provide for the return to the contiguous territory or adjacent island from which they came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, of aliens who become public charges within one year after their entry into the United States from causes existing prior to their entry, and for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within one year after their entry into the United States from causes arising subsequent to their entry, in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered in violation of law. Such rules shall provide for the return of aliens who have been excluded from admission to the United States by the inspection officers, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island from which they came, or to the country in which they boarded the vessel which brought them to the United States, at the option of the alien, except that return shall be made to the country in which the alien boarded the vessel whose master refused to permit the alien to land in the United States, if such country is willing to receive such alien. Such rules shall provide for the return of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, to the country whence they came, or to the country in which they boarded the vessel which brought them to the United States, if such country is willing to receive such aliens, when it shall be found by the Secretary of Labor that the presence of such aliens is hurtful to the welfare of the United States. Such rules shall provide for the return to the United States at any time within one year thereafter of aliens deported under the provisions of this Act, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Such rules shall provide for the payment or allowance of reasonable subsistence, not exceeding $1 per day, to aliens while being detained for examination or for return to the United States when deported, and for the transportation of such aliens and of accompanying women and children in charge of matrons, and of the necessary escort, by the most direct and expeditious route and in the manner best adapted to the health, comfort, and decency of the persons being transported. Such rules shall provide for the taking of testimony concerning any alien found in the United States in order to secure information required to be given to the Secretary of Labor before the issuance of a warrant for the deportation of such alien. Such rules shall provide for the granting of bail, pending examination and decision as to the deportation of any alien, in such cases and in such amounts as may be reasonably necessary to secure the appearance of such alien for such examination and decision. Such rules shall provide for the confinement of aliens in penal institutions only in cases where they are sentenced for crimes other than violations of any law regulating the immigration of aliens, or where they fail or refuse to furnish required bail, and for the use of buildings or parts of buildings in which aliens detained only for examination are confined, as far as practicable, separate from persons under criminal charge or conviction. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such schools in the immigrant stations as may be necessary for the children detained therein for more than thirty days. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such hospital facilities for the temporary treatment of aliens as may be necessary, and for the separate detention of persons afflicted with tuberculosis, trachoma, favus, or other loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such detention quarters for aliens as may be necessary, and for the use of buildings or parts of buildings for such detention quarters. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such quarantine stations as may be necessary, and for the use of buildings or parts of buildings for such quarantine stations. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such offices, with such assistants, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary, and for the use of buildings or parts of buildings for such offices. Such rules shall provide for the establishment of such other matters of detail as may be necessary for the efficient administration of the provisions of this Act.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have established a system of medical examination of aliens at the ports of foreign departure, and a system of certification of the results of such examination, before the issuance of such aliens' passports, then a medical examination of such aliens shall be had before sailing, and a certificate of such examination issued, which certificate shall be presented by each alien to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry in the United States. Such examination shall be conducted by examining surgeons designated by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be had at the ports of foreign departure, if practicable. The Secretary of Labor shall have the power to prescribe the number of examining surgeons to be detailed for duty at each such port, and the compensation to be paid them. Such compensation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have established a system of inspection of aliens at the ports of foreign departure, before the sailing of vessels bringing such aliens to the United States, then such inspection shall be had at the ports of foreign departure, and the Secretary of Labor shall detail such number of immigrant inspectors for duty at such ports as he may deem necessary, and shall prescribe the rules governing such inspection. Such inspectors shall have access to all parts of vessels carrying such aliens, and shall report to the master any such alien who appears to be afflicted with any contagious disease, mental or physical defect, or other condition which would be the ground for excluding such alien from admission to the United States, and such report shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before the inspection of such aliens is completed. The master shall deliver to each such alien a certificate stating the physical and mental condition of such alien, and the defect, disease, or condition for which he is excluded, which certificate shall be presented by each alien to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Such inspectors shall report to the Secretary of Labor the name of each alien who, in their opinion, may become a public charge, and the cause for such opinion.

(c) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of law shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien may be allowed to enter the United States under bond, in such amount as he may prescribe, or under such conditions as he may prescribe, for a sufficient period to enable such alien to effect his change, sale, or disposition of property or to depart voluntarily from the United States without being deported therefrom, and such alien may be allowed to depart voluntarily from the United States at his own expense under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(d) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of law, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than he was permitted by the immigration officers to land or remain, or who shall enter the United States at a time or place not designated by the immigration officers for the entry of aliens, or who shall enter the United States by means of a willfully false or misleading statement or concealment of a material fact, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered in violation of law.

(e) Every alien who becomes a public charge within one year after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered in violation of law.

(f) Any alien who shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such doctrine, or who shall write or publish or cause to be written or published any such doctrine, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered in violation of law.

(g) Every alien who shall be deported shall be identified by finger prints and a description to be furnished before he is deported by the agents of the Department of Labor in charge of the district in which the alien is apprehended, and such finger prints and description shall be forwarded to the Department of Labor at Washington, D. C., and a duplicate shall be furnished to the country to which the alien is deported.

(h) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any final order of deportation made against him under the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(i) If any person shall bring into the United States any alien not duly entered at the time and place when and where such alien shall be brought into the United States by any officer assigned to duty in connection with the execution of the provisions of this Act, or shall harbor, conceal, or protect any such alien after he shall have come into the United States, knowing him to be such alien, or shall attempt to do any of the foregoing acts, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(j) If any person, including any transportation company, shall bring into the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases mentioned in subdivision (a) of this section, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by section 3 of this Act, or who has come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such alien so brought, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(k) Any person who shall knowingly make any false statement in the application for the visé of a passport, or who shall knowingly use any passport issued upon a false statement, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(l) Any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to land in the United States at a time or place other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to land in the United States who has not been examined and admitted as provided for in this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(m) Any person who shall knowingly bring into the United States any alien who has been deported or excluded from admission to the United States, or who has been refused permission to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law classifies Polish aliens as persons entitled to enter the United States from Russia, Austria, or Germany. The law also requires that every alien shall be examined by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry to ascertain whether he belongs to the class of persons excluded from admission into the United States. Every alien who is found to be unlawfully in the United States is liable to be deported to the country whence he came. Any person who knowingly brings to the United States any alien not entitled to admission is liable to a penalty of $100 for each alien so brought. Masters of vessels are required to report the presence on board their vessels of any aliens who may be found to be unlawfully in the United States, and to detain such aliens on board their vessels when required so to do by the immigrant inspector.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at the United States from the foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, shall be examined as in the case of other aliens; but such examination may be made at the most convenient port of entry or place designated by the Secretary of Labor for the examination of such aliens. Any alien who may not appear, in the opinion of the examining inspector, at the time of his application for admission or within a period of not more than three days thereafter, to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission, shall be detained pending the final decision in his case; but such period of detention may be extended in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Pending the final determination, every alien detained for further inquiry shall be given all reasonable opportunity to communicate with relatives or friends, and counsel, by telephone or otherwise, and shall be given a hearing, at which he may be represented by such counsel, relatives, or friends as he may desire, before boards of special inquiry, which shall be appointed from time to time by the Secretary of Labor. Such boards shall have authority to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to enter or shall be deported, which determination shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules and make all needful regulations for the enforcement of this Act. Pending a final decision as to whether a stowaway will be allowed to land, such stowaway shall be detained in such place as shall be designated by the Secretary of Labor, but not in jail or other place used for the detention of criminals, and such stowaway shall be given all reasonable opportunity to communicate with counsel, relatives, friends, and consuls. The Secretary of Labor shall, in his discretion and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, have authority to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the detention of aliens on board vessels or at wharves pending the decision as to whether they may be allowed to land, and for their safekeeping while on land under such contracts, and shall have authority to perform any and all acts and to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act. All appropriations for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be paid out on the certificate or requisition of the Secretary of Labor, and any moneys received from fines or penalties under this Act shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 8

Par. 4. Chinese shall not be granted two leaves until the first leave has been landed, and Japanese shall not be granted a second passport unless the holder shall present a certificate from the Commissioner-General of Immigration that the holder is returning to his former home or that he has a wife, child, parent, or property there requiring his presence.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

SEC. 28. (a) The annual quota of any nationality shall be one hundred and fifty. (b) The annual quota of any nationality for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1924, and for each fiscal year thereafter, shall be a number which bears the same ratio to one hundred and fifty as the number of inhabitants in the United States in 1890 of such nationality bears to the number of inhabitants in the United States in 1890, but the minimum quota of any nationality shall be one hundred. (c) For the purpose of subdivisions (a) and (b), the number of inhabitants in the United States in 1890 of any nationality shall be determined by the Secretary of Labor, and his determination shall be final. (d) As used in this section the words "United States" include only the States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, and Porto Rico. (e) The provisions of this section shall not apply to immigrants who are natives of independent countries of the Western Hemisphere or their families or children, or to persons who have resided therein for at least five years immediately before coming to the United States, or to their families or children, or to aliens ineligible for citizenship, or to their families or children, or to children born outside the United States after the date of the issuance to their parents of immigration visas or admission to the United States, or to their families or children, or to persons who have resided in the United States throughout the five years immediately before July 1, 1924, or to their families or children, or to seamen who have served on merchant vessels touching at ports of the United States during the calendar year ending June 30, 1924, or to their families or children, or to immigrants coming to the United States to carry on trade solely between their country and the United States, or to their families or children, or to students under the age of twenty-one coming to the United States solely for the purpose of study at institutions approved by the Secretary of Labor, or to their families or children, or to professors of universities coming to the United States to teach in such universities for a period not exceeding two years, or to their families or children, or to ministers of religious denominations coming to the United States solely for the purpose of preaching for a period not exceeding two years, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who have been residents of the United States and who have been temporarily absent therefrom for a period not exceeding one year, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, or ministers of religious denominations coming to the United States temporarily and solely in pursuance of their callings, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are civilian employees of the Government of the United States coming to the United States under contracts approved by the Secretary of Labor, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are bona fide residents of the Panama Canal Zone or the Canal Zone coming to the United States to reside permanently, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are residents of the Philippine Islands coming to the United States to reside permanently, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are residents of the Virgin Islands of the United States coming to the United States to reside permanently, or to their families or children, or to immigrants who are residents of the Canal Zone coming to the United States to reside permanently, or to their families or children. (f) Quotas for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1927, and for each fiscal year thereafter, shall be one-sixth of 1 per centum of the number of inhabitants in the continental United States in 1920 having the national origins specified in the Act of May 19, 1921, but the minimum quota of any nationality shall be one hundred. (g) For the purpose of this section a person's national origin shall be determined by the country of birth, except that (1) if a child, born in the United States or in a country contiguous to the United States, has a parent who was born in a country having a quota, the child's national origin shall be determined by the country of birth of such parent, and (2) if a child, born in the United States or in a country contiguous to the United States, has no parent who was born in a country having a quota, but has a parent who was born in a country not contiguous to the United States, the child's national origin shall be determined by the country of birth of such parent. (h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 4 (c) of the Immigration Act of 1917 relating to the races of persons who may be admitted to the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law requires that a list of all persons on board vessels bound for ports of the United States must be prepared by the master or person in charge of the vessel before the vessel sails from the last port, and that a duplicate of such list must be delivered to the immigration officer at the first port of arrival in the United States. The list must show the name, age, sex, calling, nationality, last residence, final destination, whether married or single, whether in possession of $50 or more, whether ever before in the United States, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming under contract to labor, whether in good health, whether deformed or crippled, and the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence the alien came. Special inquiry must be made as to whether any person is a professional beggar, an anarchist, or a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliates with any society or body of persons teaching such doctrines or practices. Every master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing any alien to the United States who refuses or neglects to report, or who conceals or falsely reports, or who assists or connives at the concealment of any fact or circumstance required by law to be reported concerning any alien, shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from via foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of first arrival full and complete lists of all aliens who may be on board such vessel, which lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and the Secretary of Labor touching every such alien, and such other information touching the right of any such alien to enter the United States as may be required by the rules and regulations made hereunder by the Secretary of Labor. The master or commanding officer of every such vessel shall also deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States a list containing the names of all aliens who have been taken on board during the stay of the vessel in such port, and shall report the cause of departure, the final destination, and the intended future movements of each such alien. Such lists shall be open to the inspection of immigration officers and other officers of the United States designated by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose. Any master or commanding officer who refuses or neglects to deliver any list required of him by this section, or who refuses to answer any question touching the same, or who willfully answers falsely to any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. (a) That any alien arriving at a port of the United States from via foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing such alien to the United States to detain such alien on board such vessel at such port or place until a physician designated by the United States Public Health Service shall have examined such alien and certified to the number and condition of such alien so detained, and no such alien shall be allowed to land in the United States from such vessel except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to the final order of a court, or of the Secretary of Labor, or of such officer as he may designate for the purpose.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the transportation of any alien who has been refused a visa or admission into the United States will be unduly delayed by reason of the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel to detain such alien on board or in custody pending the completion of the examination of such alien by medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, he may, in his discretion, authorize the release of such alien from custody upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel furnishing to the Secretary of Labor a bond in such sum, not exceeding $500, as he may require, conditioned that such alien will be produced when required for examination by such medical officers and will not become a public charge, and that such master, agent, consignee, or owner will pay such expenses and perform such orders as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the enforcement of the provisions of this section and the rules and regulations made hereunder.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the examination of any alien by medical officers of the United States Public Health Service cannot be had at the port or place where application is made for the admission of such alien without unreasonable delay, he may, in his discretion, authorize the removal of such alien to a proper place for such examination, upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived furnishing a bond in such sum, not exceeding $500, as he may require, conditioned that such alien will be produced when required for such examination and will not become a public charge, and that such master, agent, consignee, or owner will pay such expenses and perform such orders as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the enforcement of the provisions of this section and the rules and regulations made hereunder.

(d) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from via foreign port or place who shall not appear to the examining medical officer to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to admission shall be detained for such further examination and action by the Secretary of Labor, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, as may be provided by the rules and regulations made hereunder by the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any alien has been refused admission into the United States from via foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived to return such alien on the vessel on which he arrived to the port from which such vessel sailed to the United States, or to any other foreign port which will accept such alien, and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be granted clearance papers for such vessel until such alien has been returned or has been accepted by the port to which he is returned, or until the Secretary of Labor has given notice that such alien need not be returned.

SEC. 38. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases which would be ground for the exclusion of such alien from the United States under section 3 of this Act, shall be liable to the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act, and in addition thereto a penalty of $200 for each such alien, unless such alien is in possession of a valid immigration visa and is entitled to enter the United States, or unless such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not know and could not have known by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien was afflicted with such mental or physical defect or disease at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place: Provided, That no penalty shall be imposed in the case of any alien who was in possession of a valid immigration visa at the time of his application for admission, unless such alien became a public charge within one year after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to the issuance of such visa.

(b) Every alien afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases which would be ground for the exclusion of such alien from the United States under section 3 of this Act, who shall not appear to the examining medical officer to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to admission, shall be detained for such further examination and action by the Board of Special Inquiry as may be provided by the rules and regulations made hereunder by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any alien has been refused admission into the United States from via foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived to return such alien on the vessel on which he arrived to the port from which such vessel sailed to the United States, or to any other foreign port which will accept such alien, and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be granted clearance papers for such vessel until such alien has been returned or has been accepted by the port to which he is returned, or until the Secretary of Labor has given notice that such alien need not be returned.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman admitted from adjacent part of United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from via foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to the final order of a court, or of the Secretary of Labor, or of such officer as he may designate for the purpose, unless such alien shall have been duly admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and has an unexpired immigration visa.

No vessel shall be granted clearance papers until the determination of such alien seamen's case has been reported to the collector of customs or the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, and the amount of $10,000 for each alien seaman so detained, and the penalty provided for in section 38 of this Act, shall be paid to the collector of customs or the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, or a bond for the payment of such amount to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor shall be given by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers, pending the determination of such alien seaman's case, if the Secretary of Labor shall have reported that such alien seaman has been certified by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases which would be ground for exclusion of such alien from the United States, unless such vessel shall leave without such alien seaman on board.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear to the examining medical officer to be clearly and beyond doubt entitled to admission shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge until examined by a Board of Special Inquiry, and pending the decision of such Board such alien seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to the final order of a court, or of the Secretary of Labor, or of such officer as he may designate for the purpose, unless such alien seaman shall have been duly admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and has an unexpired immigration visa.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any alien seaman has been refused admission into the United States from via foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent islands, he may cause such alien seaman to be returned on the vessel on which he arrived to the port from which such vessel sailed to the United States, or to any other foreign port which will accept such alien seaman, and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be granted clearance papers for such vessel until such alien seaman has been returned or has been accepted by the port to which he is returned, or until the Secretary of Labor has given notice that such alien seaman need not be returned.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. (a) Any alien seaman admitted from any foreign port into the United States under the immigration laws in force at the time of his admission, who shall desert from any vessel in which he arrived in the United States or from any vessel to which he shall have been transferred in the United States, or who shall remain in the United States longer than the period allowed by the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country whose seaman certificate he carries, or in which he shall have been naturalized, or in which he has his domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. The cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be collected by the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel arrives in the United States. The vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such lien remains undischarged, except as hereinafter provided. Any alien seaman who shall have been ordered deported shall be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman (whether an immigrant or not) who is required by the immigration laws then in force to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, shall detain such alien seaman on board such vessel until such examination shall have been made, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such alien seaman remains on board, except upon the certificate of such medical officer that such examination has been made. Any such alien seaman who is certified by such medical officer to be suffering from any disease or infirmity which will probably require treatment to prevent him from becoming a public charge, or from any contagious disease, shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the master may desire, subject to the regulations of the Public Health Service and the immigration officials. Any such alien seaman who shall be certified by such medical officer to be helpless from sickness, insanity, mental defect, infancy, or old age, shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the master may desire, subject to the regulations of the Public Health Service and the immigration officials, unless the master shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500 in any case, conditioned that such alien seaman will not become a public charge. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers while any alien seaman required by this section to be detained on board remains on board without the consent of the immigration officials in charge of such alien seaman.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who shall be ordered deported to the country whose seaman certificate he carries, or in which he has been naturalized, or in which he has his domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, shall be deported on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States. The cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be collected by the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel arrives in the United States. The vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such lien remains undischarged, except as hereinafter provided. Any alien seaman who shall have been ordered deported shall be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States.

(c) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who shall be ordered deported to the country whose seaman certificate he carries, or in which he has been naturalized, or in which he has his domicile, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, shall be deported on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States. The cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be collected by the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel arrives in the United States. The vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such lien remains undischarged, except as hereinafter provided. Any alien seaman who shall have been ordered deported shall be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States.

The cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be collected by the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel arrives in the United States. The vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such lien remains undischarged, except as hereinafter provided. Any alien seaman who shall have been ordered deported shall be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or in such place of detention as may be provided by the immigration officials, until such vessel shall depart from the United States or such alien shall be taken from the United States.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a final order of deportation of any alien seaman who has been ordered deported before the departure of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or if such alien seaman is destitute or becomes a public charge within one year after the date of the final order of deportation, the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of sickness or injury certified by the examining medical officer, unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid seaman's identification certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe for the establishment of the identity of such seamen, or pursuant to such regulations as may be agreed upon by the Secretary of Labor and the appropriate authorities of any foreign country in which such seaman shall have been employed on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and any alien seaman who shall fail to report for deportation or who shall enter any vessel without permission shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, operator, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien immigrant shall be responsible for the proper care of such alien immigrant while on board such vessel and shall provide for the detention of such alien immigrant on board such vessel if required to do so by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and for the delivery of such alien immigrant to the immigration officer at the time of inspection or at such other place as the Secretary of Labor may designate for the purpose of inspection or examination, and for his safekeeping thereafter until he is allowed to land or is ordered deported by the Secretary of Labor or by the United States court in cases brought before such court for review. No vessel shall be cleared while application for the detention of any alien on board thereof is pending before the Secretary of Labor or any question relative thereto remains undetermined by him, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such alien's maintenance while detained, to be fixed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $10 per day for the period of detention.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa was required by section 2 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and every alien who has been excluded from admission and deported in pursuance of law, shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival and shall be examined by one of the boards of special inquiry provided for by section 16 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, unless such alien shall be certified to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission by the Secretary of Labor or an officer acting under his direction. The cost of such detention and of the return of any such alien who may be excluded shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Pending the decision of the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor, such alien shall not be landed in the United States except temporarily and under bond, in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, to prevent such alien becoming a public charge, or for such other reasons as may be deemed by the Secretary of Labor necessary.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will be facilitated by the assistance of the master of any vessel on which such alien arrived, and that such master has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the departure of such alien, or has not refused to facilitate such departure, he may, in his discretion, remit the penalty provided for in section 35 of this act against such master.

(d) Every alien who shall not be allowed to land because not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa was required by section 2 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and every alien who has been excluded from admission and deported in pursuance of law, shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of said act to the country whence he came, or, at his option, to the country in which is located the port from which he embarked for the United States, if such country refuses to accept him, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 31. ON MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER OF VESSEL.—It shall be unlawful for any vessel, except vessels engaged in trade between the United States and foreign contiguous territory, to land in the United States from any foreign port or place any alien seaman, unless the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall, before any such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States, report the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and intended future permanent residence of each such alien seaman to the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry, and shall furnish to such immigration officer such information in addition thereto as may be required by such officer, and shall truly answer such questions as may be put to him by such officer touching the right of any such alien seaman to enter the United States, under the provisions of this Act or the immigration laws, and touching the sufficiency of the vessel's outfit of provisions for the return passage of such alien seaman, and shall deliver to such immigration officer lists containing such information concerning all such alien seamen and in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000.

(a) Every alien seaman, while employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or while employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States, shall be entered in the manifest of the vessel by the master or commanding officer thereof, or by the person acting in such capacity, and shall be numbered consecutively for identification.

(b) It shall be the duty of the master or commanding officer of any vessel on which any alien seaman is employed, upon the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port a certificate containing the name of each such alien seaman, the vessel on which he was employed, and the date and port of his arrival in the United States, and stating whether, to the best of his knowledge and belief, each such alien seaman has remained in the United States, and if not, when and where he departed therefrom, and whether he has been employed on board any other vessel, and if so, on board what vessel, and whether he has been paid the wages due him, and if not, the reason therefor. Such alien seaman shall be detained at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall be returned to the vessel from which he deserted, or to such other vessel as may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, whenever in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor the return of such alien seaman is practicable and the public interest will not be prejudiced thereby. Such alien seaman shall be returned to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, within five years after the date of his desertion, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, unless the master or commanding officer of the vessel from which he deserted shall pay the cost of his return to such country, or shall furnish a bond in the sum of $300 for each such alien seaman for the return of such alien seaman to such country within one year from the date of such bond, or unless such alien seaman shall be admitted to the United States under the provisions of this Act or the immigration laws, and the Secretary of Labor shall not be required to return to the country whence he came any alien seaman who deserted from a vessel prior to the passage of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel (925 Airy) before the vessel is admitted to pratique, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States. The list is to be prepared in duplicate, and one copy returned to the master as a clearance (925 Airy) before the vessel leaves the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the information required by section 12 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and every such vessel shall be detained at the port of arrival for the purpose of the inspection of the alien passengers and crew thereon, and the physical and mental examination of such of them as may be certified by the boards of special inquiry or the medical officers to be subject to such examination. Such lists shall be prepared as indicated in the forms which may be furnished by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer, or first or second officer, or purser of the vessel, which oath may be administered by any officer of the United States authorized to administer oaths for the purposes of this Act. Such lists shall contain such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, touching the identity, nationality, last residence, destination, and admissibility of each alien mentioned therein. Such lists shall be filed with the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival in the United States, and the immigrant inspector shall have the right to go on board the vessel for the purpose of examining the lists and the persons named therein at any time before the vessel has been cleared by the customs officers for departure from the United States. Such lists shall be corrected, if necessary, by the master or commanding officer, or first or second officer, or purser of the vessel, upon the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival in the United States from any foreign port, and upon the departure of the vessel from any port in the United States to any other port in the United States, to show any changes or additions to the lists of passengers or crew furnished at the time of the vessel's departure from the last foreign port, and the additional names of passengers who have embarked at such intermediate port in the United States, and shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival in the United States at which the vessel shall next arrive from such intermediate port, or, if the vessel departs from the United States without calling at another port in the United States, shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure from the United States. Any master or commanding officer, or first or second officer, or purser of any vessel who knowingly refuses to deliver the lists required by this section, or who knowingly delivers incorrect lists, or who refuses to the immigrant inspector the right to go on board the vessel for the purpose of examining the lists and the persons named therein, or who refuses to correct the lists in accordance with the requirements of the immigrant inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the application of the penalty to the case of any vessel reported with an incorrect list, or the payment of the penalty if incurred, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector. (a) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, or arriving at any other port of the United States from any place outside the limits of the United States specified in section 6 hereof, shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the boards of special inquiry, or the medical officers to whom he may be certified by the boards of special inquiry for medical examination, his right to enter the United States under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor not inconsistent with law. Such boards of special inquiry shall be composed of three immigrant inspectors, any two of whom may act, and shall have authority to determine whether an alien who may be brought before them is subject to exclusion or deportation under the provisions of this Act. The decision of such boards of special inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. It shall be the duty of the boards of special inquiry to conduct a careful examination of all aliens detained for special inquiry, and order the deportation of any alien who shall be found to be excludable from admission to the United States under this Act, or any other law applicable thereto. Such boards may, in their discretion, admit an alien upon his own recognizance, or in the case of any alien who is excludable only because likely to become a public charge, upon the recognizance of a responsible person, for a sum sufficient in their judgment to cover the cost of the return of such alien, pending the decision of the case upon appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such bonds shall be canceled when the decision is favorable to the alien and he is admitted to the United States, or when the alien departs from the United States under an order of deportation, or upon the payment of the penalty of $100 in the case of the alien in respect to whom such penalty accrues. (b) Any alien who shall come in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, or who shall remain in the United States for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their entry into the United States. Any alien who shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating such unlawful destruction of property, shall upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their entry into the United States. (c) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a warrant for the deportation of any alien within five years after the entry of such alien into the United States, or if the Secretary of Labor shall not within such time have issued a warrant for the removal of such alien based upon a final judgment of conviction of a crime or crimes for which he may be deported, such alien shall not thereafter be deported or removed unless upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor such alien shall have come within the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 19 of this Act. (d) Any alien who shall after his entry into the United States procure any other alien to violate any of the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist, abet, or aid any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall, prior to the arrival of any alien at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, solicit, contract with, induce, or bring into the United States by means of any promise, contract, payment of money or thing of value, any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect from detection any such alien after his entry into the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a warrant for the deportation of any alien within five years after the entry of such alien into the United States from any place outside thereof, or if the Secretary of Labor shall not within such time have issued a warrant for the removal of such alien based upon a final judgment of conviction of a crime or crimes for which he may be deported, such alien shall not thereafter be deported or removed unless upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor such alien shall have come within the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 19 of this Act. (f) Any alien who shall be deported shall be sent to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, as he may elect, and the cost of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he came to the United States, and the vessel may be required to stand as security for such cost or may be proceeded against for the recovery thereof in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is located at which the alien arrived in the United States. The cost of deportation of any alien who came in any other manner shall be paid from the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor. All actions to recover such costs shall be brought within two years after the cause of action arises. (g) Any alien who shall return to the United States unlawfully after having been excluded or deported, whether before or after the passage of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act to the country to which he belongs or from which he came, at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, without the issuance of any warrant other than the warrant of arrest provided for in section 19 of this Act. (h) Any alien who shall willfully make any false or misleading statement or representation to any United States official performing functions under this Act touching his nationality, residence, or any matter which may be relevant to the determination of his admissibility into the United States under this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their entry into the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) No alien seaman (except those employed on board vessels engaged in the coastwise trade) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, during the period his vessel remains in port, unless the master, purser, or agent of the vessel has first secured from the immigration officer in charge at the port a permit to land, specifying the number of days, not exceeding five, for which it is granted. (e) If the Commissioner General of Immigration shall certify that any alien seaman has been paid wages in excess of the wages earned, such excess wages shall be considered a debt owing to the master, purser, or agent of the vessel on which such seaman arrived, and may be sued for and recovered by him in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, unless the master, purser, or agent of the vessel shall deposit sufficient funds to cover the expense of such deportation.

Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the lists required by this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each such refusal or neglect, and no clearance shall be granted to such vessel while such refusal or neglect continues. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to enter such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the passengers thereon shall pay a penalty of $100 for each such refusal, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel while such refusal continues.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival a head tax of $4 for each alien (except those specified in the following provisos) and each person in the United States in transit through the United States to a foreign country who may be brought to the United States on board such vessel, and such head tax shall constitute a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by the collector of customs at the port of arrival by the seizure and sale of sufficient of the tackle, apparel, or furniture of such vessel to satisfy such head tax. Such head tax shall be paid before any such alien shall be allowed to land, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while such head tax remains unpaid. Such head tax shall be refunded to any such alien who is not allowed to land, and no such head tax shall be collected in respect of any such alien who is in transit through the United States to a foreign country if the inspection officer at the port of arrival is satisfied that such alien has in his possession a ticket entitling him to transportation to such foreign country and has sufficient money to pay his expenses while in transit.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and may be detained for that purpose for a period not exceeding four days, which period may be extended in special cases in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor for not more than five days, unless within such period it is certified by the medical officer in charge at the port that such alien is suffering from a contagious disease a probable cause of which is a matter of days, in which event the period of detention may be extended until the certification that such alien has recovered sufficiently to be no longer a menace to the public health: Provided, That no alien shall be detained for more than thirty days before his case is certified to the Secretary of Labor.

Clearance may be withheld from the vessel on account of such violations in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and if withheld shall not be granted except upon the production of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that the penalty has been paid or secured to be paid to his satisfaction or upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the amount of the penalty. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by the libel and seizure by the United States marshal of sufficient of the tackle, apparel, or furniture of such vessel to satisfy such penalty. Pending the decision as to the existence of such violation, the Secretary of Labor may require the detention of the vessel by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, whether entering the United States at the time of his arrival or subsequently, who is found by the Secretary of Labor to have been at the time of his entry into the United States, or to have come into the United States in violation of law, or who shall thereafter, from causes existing prior to his entry, become a public charge within two years after such entry from causes not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent thereto, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof: Provided, That the provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to aliens who are in the United States at the time of the passage of this Act: Provided further, That nothing contained in this subdivision shall be construed to affect the power to deport aliens for any cause now or hereafter provided by law, which power is hereby confirmed and declared to be in addition to the power to deport aliens who become public charges within two years after entry as above provided.

(e) Any person, including any officer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel or any master of any vessel bringing an alien to any port of the United States, who shall knowingly and willfully refuse to comply with the provisions of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or who shall knowingly and willfully by himself or through another, directly or indirectly, violate or evade any of the provisions of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 31. (a) The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien to any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or bringing an alien to any port of the United States from any foreign port to which such alien may go or in which such alien may be, shall be required to take back to the port from which such alien came to the United States, or to the country to which such alien belongs, or to the country in which such alien resided before coming to the United States, at the option of such alien, any alien who may be excluded from admission to the United States by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and any alien who may be deported from the United States within five years after entry, if the cause for deportation existed before entry, at the expense of such master, agent, consignee, or owner, if such master, agent, consignee, or owner brought such alien to the United States on board such vessel or subsequently. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be required to take back to the United States any alien deported therefrom. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be required to take back to the United States any alien who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude committed before the entry of such alien to the United States, unless such crime was committed within one year after such entry.

(b) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to receive any such alien back on board such vessel or any other vessel owned or controlled by him, or shall refuse to take such alien to the port specified in subdivision (a) of this section, or shall refuse or fail to depart with such alien from the port of arrival within two days after the decision of the board of special inquiry or of the Secretary of Labor, if an appeal is taken, or shall refuse or fail to proceed by the most direct route and without unnecessary delay to the port specified in subdivision (a) of this section, or shall refuse or fail to deliver such alien to the immigration officials at such port, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and no clearance shall be granted to such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance if the Secretary of Labor has notified the collector of customs that in his opinion the owners of such vessel have failed to comply with the provisions of this section with respect to any such alien.

(c) If the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel fails to take back any alien as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be returned to the port specified in subdivision (a) of this section on any vessel available for the purpose, and the cost of the transportation of such alien, including expenses incidental thereto, shall be paid by such master, agent, consignee, or owner, and shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by the libel and seizure by the United States marshal of sufficient of the tackle, apparel, or furniture of such vessel to satisfy such cost. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing such persons of the classes as may be required by the Secretary of the Treasury, which lists shall be prepared at the port of last departure in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall contain the name, nationality, last residence, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor as to all aliens, whether they are to be admitted or not, and as to such other persons as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel shall subscribe to and deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the information required by this section as to aliens, and shall make oath to the correctness of the list and of the information contained therein. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list, or who refuses to subscribe and deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival the oath required by this section as to aliens, or who refuses to answer truthfully the questions propounded to him concerning each alien mentioned in the list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom he refuses to furnish information, or answers falsely any such question, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to board the vessel for the purpose of examining the lists required by this section as to aliens, or to come to the office of the immigrant inspector when requested for the purpose of such examination, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to detain any alien on board the vessel after notification and demand by the immigrant inspector, as provided by this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to pay the head tax provided by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to pay the head tax provided by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. It shall be unlawful for any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer to bring to the United States any alien who is not entitled to admission under the provisions of this Act, except that seamen employed in good faith as such on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States may be permitted to land temporarily at such ports for the purpose of shipping on board vessels departing therefrom, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and such seamen may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient in the opinion of such officer to pay the cost of returning such seamen to the country whence they came, or a bond in such sum and with such sureties as may be required by such officer, conditioned upon the departure of such seamen within the period for which they are granted shore leave by the immigration officer in charge of the port, or upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the cost of returning any seaman who fails to depart within the period for which he was granted shore leave. Any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and who fails to return on board the vessel when she departs from the port of arrival, or who is found on board any vessel after such departure, shall be deported in the same manner as stowaways are deported. Any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and who shall secure employment on board any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, without the consent of the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, shall be deported in the same manner as stowaways are deported. Any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and who shall ship on board any vessel sailing for a foreign port shall be deported in the same manner as stowaways are deported.

No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, and such vessel shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture to the United States in the manner provided for the forfeiture of vessels for violation of the customs laws; but clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. On sales made outside the United States under the immediate and exclusive supervision of officers of the United States Government designated by the Secretary of Labor, and on sales made on board vessels while such vessels are outside the territorial waters of the United States and bound to a foreign port, the provisions of section 18 shall not apply. Any alien seaman who has been admitted temporarily to the United States solely in pursuance of his employment upon a vessel arriving at a port of the United States and who shall violate any condition of such admission, or remain in the United States for a period longer than that for which he was admitted, or who shall fail to depart therefrom with the vessel upon which he arrived, or upon the vessel upon which he may thereafter depart from the United States, or upon some other vessel, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, irrespective of the time such alien seaman may have been in the United States, and irrespective of whether or not such violation was known at the time of departure of such alien seaman from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, operator, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at any United States port from any place outside thereof, and any person who shall bring into the United States from any place outside thereof any alien on board such vessel, shall prevent any such alien from landing at such port unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the inspector in charge at such port, or by such other immigration officer as may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such permit shall not be granted in the case of any alien who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases which would be the cause of the exclusion of such alien from the United States under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or who is excluded from admission to the United States by the provisions of section 14 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa, if such visa is required by the provisions of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other travel document in lieu thereof, duly viséed by the consular officer of the United States at the port or place where such alien seaman last embarked, except that in the case of an alien seaman employed on a vessel touching at a foreign port for not more than forty-eight hours, the master of such vessel may, in lieu of delivering a passport viséed by a consular officer, deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a certified list containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and such other particulars concerning each alien seaman employed on such vessel as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival may, if he deems it practicable, require the master to account for any alien seaman employed on such vessel who is not found on board thereof upon the arrival of such vessel at such port. Any master who shall violate any of the provisions of this subdivision shall pay a penalty of $500 for each such violation, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, and no such penalty shall be remitted or refunded, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty and costs.

(a) Proof shall be on the alien seaman that he was not employed on board any vessel in violation of this section, and that he intends to depart from the United States in pursuance of the vessel on which he arrived, or upon some other vessel, and that he is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders specified in section 3 of this Act, and that he is not excludable from admission into the United States under any other provision of this Act, and that he is in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other travel document as required by this section.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel or aboard any vessel at a foreign port will result in hardship to such alien seaman, or to the owners or operators of such vessel, or cause undue delay in the movement of such vessel, he may, in his discretion, grant a temporary permit to such alien seaman to enter the United States for a period not exceeding 29 days, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for the purpose of applying for admission to the United States or for the purpose of taking passage on a vessel or vessels departing from a port of the United States for a foreign port or ports: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be employed while in the United States under such temporary permit upon any vessel arriving at or departing from any port of the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel or aboard any vessel at a foreign port will result in hardship to such alien seaman, or to the owners or operators of such vessel, or cause undue delay in the movement of such vessel, he may, in his discretion, grant a temporary permit to such alien seaman to enter the United States for a period not exceeding 29 days, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for the purpose of applying for admission to the United States or for the purpose of taking passage on a vessel or vessels departing from a port of the United States for a foreign port or ports: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be employed while in the United States under such temporary permit upon any vessel arriving at or departing from any port of the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared in plain form approved by the Department and be ready for delivery at the immigration office at the port of arrival. The list of aliens on board a vessel must be indexed so that the inspector can readily find the name of any alien listed. (Form 988 shall not be attached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival.)

When an affidavit annexed to a "steerage" manifest is required by the master, such affidavit shall be made on this manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel at the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, assistant, or other officer of the vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest containing, to the extent required by such immigration officer, the name, nationality, last residence, and destination of every alien on board such vessel, whether such alien be a cabin passenger, second-class passenger, or steerage passenger, and such further information respecting each such alien and the intending immigrant's journey as may be required by such immigration officer, which list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared as to the first part thereof by the master at the time of embarkation at the last port of departure, and as to the remainder thereof at the time of departure from the last port in the United States, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel is granted entry. The master of the vessel shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a separate report or statement with respect to each alien who is to be landed at that port, which report or statement shall contain such further information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or report or statement, or who delivers a false list or manifest, report or statement, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the immigration officer in charge of the port touching the matters required to be stated in such list or manifest, report or statement, or who refuses to subscribe to the same when required, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest of the vessel, or who refuses to detain the vessel on board for the purpose of examining any alien thereon, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor finds that sufficient cause exists for the withholding of clearance or the detention of the vessel on account of the failure to deliver a list or manifest as required by this section, or the refusal or neglect to answer any question, or the making of any false statement in relation thereto, he may, in addition to the penalty prescribed, withhold clearance or detain the vessel on account of which such failure, refusal, neglect, or falsification occurred, or any other vessel which such master subsequently commands, until he is satisfied that no further violation of this section will occur.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the master of any vessel has refused to deliver to any immigrant alien entitled to land in the United States a certificate from the proper consular officer of the United States, or other document required by this Act, or has refused to deliver to any such alien his landing certificate, except for the reasons specified in this Act, he may, in addition to the penalty prescribed, withhold clearance or detain the vessel on account of which such refusal occurred, or any other vessel which such master subsequently commands, until he is satisfied that such alien will be duly admitted to the United States or returned to a foreign port at the option of such alien.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is not entitled to enter the United States shall be required to remove such alien from the United States to the country from which he came or to the country in which he resides, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien which will receive him, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the United States and of his removal therefrom shall be borne by such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master. Such cost shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other proceeding in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive. Clearance may be withheld or granted and such vessel may depart notwithstanding the pendency of such proceeding or judgment therein.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the master of any vessel has failed to comply with the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, or with any regulation made thereunder, he may, in addition to any other penalty prescribed by this Act, withhold clearance for such vessel or refuse to grant such vessel entry to the United States or to the privilege of landing passengers, or any of them, at any port in the United States during a period not exceeding one year.

(c) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of this Act shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resides, or to such other country as may be designated by such alien which will receive him, as provided in this section, except that no alien shall be returned to a country other than that whence he came unless the cost of his return to such country does not exceed the cost of return to the country whence he came, or unless he shall obtain the consent of the Secretary of Labor to his return to such country.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted vessel that shall have violated the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, nor shall clearance be granted to any vessel prohibited by section 37 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section 38 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section 39 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section 41 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section 42 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section 43 of said Act from departing from a port of the United States, except as provided in said section, or to any vessel prohibited by section

I have noted the copy of section 30 of the act of February 2, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 21 and 30, act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

R. L. Johnson
Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 9th day of July, 1924

H. H. Hamner
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared in plain terms which will enable any officer of the Department and person taken from the vessel. Any list or duplicate delivered upon demand to any officer of the immigration service, properly identified, shall not be destroyed or removed from the vessel by any person from the vessel, or interfered with in any manner before the departure of the vessel from the port, without the consent of the immigrant inspector in charge at such port.

Any one violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every master or commanding officer of any steamship or vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to any officer of the United States Immigration Service at any port of the United States a correct list, made in the manner hereinbefore provided, of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, calling, and intended destination of each alien employed, and the manifest number of the vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or neglect, and shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. Any master or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to allow any officer of the United States Immigration Service to enter such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list required by this section to be delivered to such officer, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the list or touching the nationality, last residence, calling, and intended destination of any alien employed on such vessel, asked by any officer of the United States Immigration Service authorized to make such inspection, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal.

No master or commanding officer of any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the United States authorized to grant the same until the list required by this section has been delivered, or, if lost, until a duplicate thereof has been made and sworn to, and until all the provisions of this section in relation to such list have been complied with, and if any master or commanding officer of any such vessel shall willfully refuse to deliver such list, or shall willfully delay the delivery thereof, or shall willfully refuse to answer any question touching the list or the nationality, last residence, calling, or intended destination of any alien employed on such vessel, or shall willfully answer falsely any such question, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal, willful delay, or false answer, and may be imprisoned for not more than one year.

(a) Every alien employed on any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be entered in the list required to be delivered by the master or commanding officer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and every alien so employed who shall be discharged or who shall leave such vessel at any port or place in the United States shall be reported by the master or commanding officer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port or place where such alien is discharged or leaves such vessel, and the cause of his discharge or leaving such vessel.

(b) Every alien who shall come in pursuance of a contract previously made, as provided in section 5 of this Act, to perform labor in the United States shall, before he is allowed to enter the United States, in addition to the information required in the case of other aliens, state the name and address of the person who sent for him, as far as he knows, and the amount of money which he has paid or agreed to pay for his passage.

After the issuance of the certificate by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure, no other certificate shall be issued to the same Chinese person, but in case of the loss of the certificate by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a duplicate may be issued upon satisfactory proof being furnished that the certificate has been lost.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. (a) Any alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place, who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily, because of illness requiring his detention, pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be required, at the time of such landing, to secure a permit therefor from the Department of Labor, and any such alien seaman who lands in the United States without such permit shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to secure such permit was excusable or was not due to his fault.

SEC. 30. (a) Any owner, master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall bring to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien seaman who is required by section 11 of this Act to secure a permit to land in the United States, and who has not secured such permit, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district at which such alien seaman lands a tax of $100 for each such alien seaman, which tax shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be collected by suit or libel against the vessel, with costs and reasonable counsel fees, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in any district into which she may enter or in which she may be found. The Secretary of Labor may remit or refund any such tax, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the person who failed to secure such permit was prevented from doing so by circumstances beyond his control, and that such person has at all times been willing and is able to return on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel owned by the same interests.

(b) Every alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place, who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily, because of illness requiring his detention, pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be required, at the time of such landing, to deposit with the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the sum of $50, to insure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States. The Secretary of Labor may remit or refund any such deposit, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the person who made such deposit was prevented from complying with the requirements of this section by circumstances beyond his control, and that such person has at all times been willing and able to return on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel owned by the same interests.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING CREW MANIFESTS

Generally speaking, the requirements for preparing a crew list are contained in the United States Code, Title 46, Section 713, and in the Immigration Act of 1924; but the following instructions are issued for the guidance of masters and others concerned, in order to secure uniformity in the method of preparing the lists and to facilitate the examination of the same by officers of the Immigration Service.

The crew list must be prepared in duplicate, typewritten or printed in ink, and must be signed by the master. The original and duplicate must be identical in every respect, and must be delivered to the Immigration officer at the first port of arrival in the United States. The original will be returned to the master after examination, and the duplicate will be retained by the immigration officer. Any changes made in the crew list after the vessel has left the last foreign port must be noted on the original list and on the duplicate, and initialed by the master.

Crew lists must be made out in the order of the numbers on the list, beginning with the master and ending with the last person employed on board. Members of the crew who sign articles at different times must be entered on the list in the order in which they sign articles. Members of the crew who sign articles at the same time must be entered on the list in the order in which their names appear on the articles. Members of the crew who are transferred from one vessel to another must be entered on the list of the vessel on which they are discharged.

Column 1 (Number on list).—Each person must be assigned a number, beginning with 1 for the master and following in regular order of entry in the articles.

Column 2 (Name in full).—Enter surname, Christian name, and middle name or initial of each person in full. Initials will not be accepted.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFESTS

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, according to separate manifests immigrants and non-immigrants, as defined by the Immigration Act of 1924; and also according to separate manifests those aliens traveling in the third class and the so-called tourist class, except those alien members of Diplomatic Embassy, and those entitled to a non-preference visa under section 4 (a) (3) of the Act, traveling in the same class; but it shall be sufficient if only those aliens, appropriate cross references thereto, in the same class, whose names begin with the same initial letter shall be listed in the same manifest sheet when they travel
